

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Hal Fox was the director of the first research laboratory at the University of Utah Research Park. He claims that the cold fusion announcement by Pons and Fleischmann was responsible for him not becoming famous. He had just retired and was going to take up tap dancing. Hal was the principal founder of the Fusion Information Center, Inc. He was also co-founder of Fusion Resources, Inc. and Future Energy Applied Technology (FEAT) and served as CEO and Chairman of FEAT until shortly before Fusion Resources and FEAT were merged and named ENECO, Inc. (a Utah corporation).

Hal Fox is the editor of Fusion Facts, a monthly technical newsletter designed to keep its subscribers informed of the latest developments in cold fusion research and development. Hal is also editor of New Energy News, a monthly newsletter provided to members of the Institute for New Energy and to other subscribers. Hal is also author of Cold Fusion Impact in the Enhanced Energy Age.
